

Innovative Communicator Accelerator Programme (ICAP)

ICAP for MANAGERS

Managers play an essential role in communication and leading teams. Operational at heart, their role is crucial to engage, motivate and inspire. They are the face of their business.

Our ICAP for Managers is for managers who want to transform their communication skills. It's suitable for both individual managers and whole management teams.

The course is a condensed version of our full ICAP for Leaders. It will help you negotiate the sometimes conflicting role you have working with both customers and the senior leadership team.

Programme outline

- To define what it means to be an Innovative Communicator
- To discuss the current global landscape and the impact it has on front-line managers
- To explore the importance of self-awareness and the impact of psychometrics in teams
- To inspire others through authentic leadership
- To measure and evaluate return on investment
- To participate in an interactive case study
- To reflect and build a personal ongoing action plan
